WAVELAND MAN HITS TRAIN IN HEAD-ON CRASH

BY SHANNON JENKINS Staff Writer

A 31-year-old Waveland man suffered multi-system trauma Thursday after his truck was struck by a train shortly after 4:30 p.m. Witnesses said a man, later identified as Michael A. Jez, turned onto the railroad tracks near the intersection of Nicholson and Central avenues and drove approximately 15 feet to the east where he stopped. Jez then reportedly got out of his vehicle. Witnesses then screamed at him, trying to

Woman accused of falsely posing as Social Security representative

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS Publisher Emeritus

A woman using a South Carolina driver license bilked two Hancock County residents Wednesday, while posing as a representative of the Social Security Administration, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

"Through clever maneuvering, the suspect obtained blank checks from a Shoreline Park and a Bay St. Louis resident. She then cashed checks she after forged the victims signature and using her driver's license as identification, reports Hancock Investigator John Luther. "Initial investigation reveals the suspect was using a driver license with the name of Mitzi Crow, Brothers Wayne, left, and Larry Banks, along with wives Ruth and Sue have decided Cruisin the Coast is the place to be in early October. Larry is a veteran of Cruisin but this is Wayne's first rodeo. The Jasper, Alabama natives were surprised to find Larry's 1954 red and white Ford Sunliner featured on the front page of the Sea Coast Echo last year. Wayne's mother-in-law of Cedartown, Georgia is an Echo subscriber and while visiting her, he discovered the photo. So this year, it is only fitting that Wayne's 1948 pearl and gold Chevy is also in the paper along with his brother's car; it also shows that the Echo has a large circulation area.

Rain dampens event, not spirit

Why would someone tamper with Veterans Memorial with so many veterans in Hancock County?

Coast 2003 were dampened with the showers on Thursday and steady showers on Friday.

Yet, through out the rain, Cruisin' events con-

It seems the vehicles and this year the number around 5,000 that came from across America and Canada, appeared to have had a great time.

A program as such which extends from Bay St. Louis to Ocean Springs takes the efforts of many volunteers and they should all be commended for the job they do.

· I know that in Bay St. Louis, our police and fire departments were very busy along with the volunteers to help make the dampened Cruisin' The Coast a big success.

As the week starts, I am sure the planners and shakers of Cruisin' are already making plans for the ninth event in 2004. Many of the cruisers will be taking advantage of the pre-registrations for 2004 this morning at Rice Pavilion in Gulfport. Hopefully we will have better weather next year. I still got to see some very beautiful vehicles and believe me, when for they were new, they never looked as sharp as the old vehicles looked for the event.

> I cannot understand how someone has the gall to tamper with the Veterans Memorial and its grounds on Beach Boulevard in Waveland.

The latest was the stealing of the sago palm trees, which is really the second time.

Apparently the "idiot" or "idiots" do not know anything about veterans.

In Hancock County today there are thousands of military veterans, those who served their country in uniformed in the Armed Forces.

I, a veteran of three years, have three brothers who are all retired military, having spent over 20 years in service for this country.

I sure hope there is someone who may have seen someone when they were removing the sago palms last weekend and they call the Waveland Police Department at 228-467-3669.

I know Waveland Police Chief really wants to nab the guilty in this matter and bring them to Municipal Court.

October is "National Disability Employment Awareness Month" and the perfect time to recognize and celebrate a unique program that impacts not only our country, but also the community in which we live.

The theme of this year's National Disability Employment Awareness Month is "America Works Best When All Americans Work." It serves as a poignant reminder that the vast majority of Americans with disabilities-some 70 percent-are jobless. For decades, the Javits-Waggner-O'Day (JWOD) Program has tried to break down barriers that people with disabilities face in securing employment, which leads to greater independence. Today, in more than 600 communities-based nonprofit agencies nationwide, the JWOD Program provides nearly 40,000 Americans who are blind or who have other severe disabilities with the job skills and training necessary to receive good wages and benefits, and reduce their dependence on government benefits.

Since 1974, Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi has been providing vocational training and employment for people who are blind or who have other disabilities. Currently about 165 Goodwill people are working on JWOD projects along the Gulf Coast at Keesler, the CB base, the Mississippi Air National Guard facility, the Department of Agriculture in Gulfport, the farmer, rancher and timberman - professions important to states like Texas and Mississippi. Frankly, today's liberals are not befriending farmers, ranchers, timbermen or any rural Americans who depend on agricultural products to make a living. On one hand some of these folks clamor for an end to world hunger and substandard housing. On the other hand they protest the free trade of American food, lumber and other commodities for less to those who need them most. These people simply cannot be allowed to influence agricultural policy, and a majority of conservatives moderates Washington know that.

Hattiesburg Federal Building and the new Judge Dan

Russell Federal Building in Gulfport.

Goodwill of South Mississippi is proud to partner with the many federal entities along the coast in providing NOT CHARITY BUT A CHANCE FOR PEOPLE WITH DIS-ABILITIES.

The poultry dispute is certainly not the first time delegation have taken a stand for farmers, ranchers or timber producers against unfair foreign or domestic challenges. Two years ago we called the Canadians to task for illegally subsidizing and then dumping Canadian friend to the American lumber onto the American market, putting Mississippi's timber and lumber producers at risk. The Canadians are now softening their position. Not long ago we began to notice that Vietnam was dumping their so-called "catfish" onto the American market. This fish isn't catfish as you and I know it, or as Mississippi's farmers grow it, but rather another kind of common, cheap fish found in Vietnam's backwaters. Thanks to a united stance from this administration and Mississippi's Congressional leaders, the Vietnamese were forced to back down.

Right now, America is considering action against Mexico which seeks to unfairly stop the importation of American rice into President Bush and that country, much of which Mississippi's Congressional is produced in the Mississippi Delta. In fact, I was pleased that Travis Satterfield - a rice farmer from Benoit - accepted my invitation to testify about this problem before the Senate Finance Committee on which I serve. After hearing his testimony, I believe this issue will be resolved favorably, too.

America's farmers, ranchers, timbermen and lumbermen are the world's leaders, and on a fair playing field they can compete with anyone, anywhere, anytime. With a President and a Congress committed to free and fair trade, we are successfully challenging those at home and abroad who seek to restrict America's agricultural success for narrow purposes.

We must remain vigilant in maintaining open markets for hard-working Americans who stock the world's breadbasket and make America, without question, the best and most productive agricultural nation in history.

The workers in the Child Nutrition Program are well trained by the State Department of Education

Office of Child and Nutrition. Managers must be re-certified every three years. They also receive by the State Department of Health in food safety and sanitation. I would rather have my daughter's lunch prepared by local personnel than by some outside company who ships in food which is mass produced in an "out of state" facility.

When the janitorial services of Hancock County Schools were privatized, workers lost their benefits. They were also paid lower wages.

When we hear so much Mississippi, shouldn't we use every opportunity to keep what jobs we have for our people?

Many years invested in their jobs but are not ready for retirement. Do we not owe them any loyalty for their many years of service and dedication?

chest for chemotherapy. On Dec. 3, she began chemo at Medical Oncology Group in Gulfport.

Nine days after the chemo treatment, her shoulder-length blond hair began falling out.

"I was smooth-headed by Déc. 23," Sandra said. "I lost everything but my eyebrows and my eyelashes. Losing my hair was tough.'

Hats became everyday accessories. Wigs were not practical because the chemo caused sores on her head.

Dining out became uncomfortable, rather than pleasurable.

Because of the chemo drugs, Sandra said food was better using plastic knives and forks.

"In some restaurants when you request plastic dinnerware, they look at you rather strange," she said. "Some people would stare at me, and one time a man said to me, 'If I looked like you I would stay at home."

Rather than shy away from excursions outside her home, Sandra put on a brave face.

"I would deal with these situations by holding my head up and telling myself that I was fighting a battle for my life, and these people were just uneducated to things they have no control over," she said. "Even with my positive attitude, comments and stares made me more aware of the changes in my appearance."

Although some people balked at her appearance, others saw past it, including her twin grandsons, who are now 2 1/2 years old.

"It was amazing how they dealt with it when they saw me," she said. "They knew I looked different, but I was still their Mimie."

In their brief visits, the boys grew accustomed their grandmother's hats.

"They knew the hats were a way for us to play," she said. "When they knew they were coming to see me, they would wear hats also."

Unfortunately, Sandra only saw her grandsons, who live in Chalmette, La., about three times from the time she was diagnosed to their birthday in March of this year. Before the cancer, she saw them every other weekend and sometimes every weekend.

The holiday season was especially hard for Sandra. Due to a low white cell count, she was quarantined within her home from Dec. 15 to Dec. 24.

"Christmas has always been a big part of my life," she said. "One of the hardest things about last Christmas was not being able to spend time with my twin grandsons."

Sandra also spent time in the hospital away from her loved ones. Simple colds required her to be hospitalized.

didn't have the immune system to fight it," she said.

The new year, however, offered promises of a new beginning for Sandra.

In March 2003, her hair began to grow back. Her once long, blond hair was now dark and curly, but she welcomed it nonetheless.

On April 30, Dr. John Miller, a plastic surgeon with the Plastic Surgeon Gulf Coast Aesthetic Center in Gulfport, began the process of reconstructing

Sandra's left breast. The mastectomy had removed a majority of muscle and lymph nodes from her breast and armpit. Inserting a chest expander (similar to an uninflated balloon) under the skin on the left side of her torso was the first step of reconstrucContinued from Page 2A would inject saline into the expander until it was the appropriate size. Then the expander was removed, and a saline implant was inserted on June 27.

As things appeared to be improving, Sandra suffered another setback during her healing time. On Sept. 1, a little over a year after she discovered the lump, she found another one in her right breast.

Sandra set several goals for herself. She plans to graduate from college, clothes have designed women who have had mastectomies, lobby

Washington D.C. to have women tested for breast cancer at the age of 30 instead of the recommended age of 40.

"If I had a mammogram at 30 and again at 35, abnormal changes could have been seen in comparing the mammograms before the development of the lump and the invasion of the lymphatic system of my breast," she said.

Sandra discovered she had had the cancer for eight years before the first lump had developed. She had ductal carcinoma in situ (DCIS), the most common type of noninvasive breast cancer.

According to www.cancer.org, noninvasive means the cancer is confined to the ducts and has not spread through the walls of the ducts into the fatty tissue of the breast.

The site stated that Sandra will begin the five-"nearly all women with canyear period it takes to be cer at this stage can be cured. The best way to find "I'm doing really well DCIS early is with a mamnow," she said. "It's how you

Unique Postal Flag is a Salute to Customer Satisfaction

Bay St. Louis, MS- "There's a new flag soon to be flying at the Bay St. Louis Post Office in recognition of high marks from customer's on our postal team's performance," said Postmaster Rickey Harrell. The Bay St. Louis Post Office will fly "The order of the Yellow Jersey" flag recently awarded to employees for outstanding performance and teamwork in satisfying customers.

Customers are invited to join us in our celebration for them ranking us #1 in Customer Satisfaction and Outstanding Performance. We would like to thank you for giving us this honor by having a Customer Appreciation Day, October 17th, 2003, 8:30am at the Bay St. Louis Post Office.

The new flag features the Postal Service logo with the eagle body emblazoned in yellow and is awarded to postal facilities that receive high marks in the Customer Satisfaction Measurement-Residential survey, conducted for the Postal Service by the Gallup Organization. The yellow jersey is designed to mirror the symbol of excellence worn by the daily leader and winner of the prestigious Tour de France bicycle race, For the last five years that champion was Lance Armstrong, a member of the U.S. Postal Service Pro Cycling Team,

The Postal Service's Office of the Consumer Advocate bases the quarterly award on an overall performance plus three key elements of Gallup's survey data-accuracy of delivery, consistency of delivery and professionalism in serving retail cus-

"I'm proud that our employees are being recognized for achieving superior levels of customer satisfaction," Postmaster Harrell added. "Our goal is to strive to exceed customer expectations and keep the fly flying."

"The sheriff's office received a call from a lady in Shoreline Park, who has a disabled son. The suspect visited them and said she was a representative from Social Security Administration and was looking for someone else. She got a 'coughing spell' and somehow lifted a couple of the ladies blank checks.

The suspect then went to a bank and lifted $265 from the lady," Barnett said.

Scam -- senior citizens bilked

Also on Wednesday, the same suspect approached an elderly Bay St. Louis man, told him she was from Social Security Administration and wanted to see his check book to get personal information on him. She stole two blank checks, cashed one for $400 and another for $1200, according to Barnett.

"We know the suspect was the same in both incidents, as the victims have identified the suspect through bank photos, in addition to one received from South Carolina's Highway Patrol," Barnett stated. David Murtagh of the Mississippi Highway Patrol secured a copy of the photo on the driver's license that matched the bank photos, according to Luther.

Bay St. Louis Police Department Detective Don Watson is assisting with the investigation. In addition Social Security Administration has been notified of the incidents.

Pirates make Rocks walk plank 16-10 in OT win

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

he Pass Christian Pirates (3-4, 2-2) and the St. Stanislaus Rocka-chaws (3-4, 2-1) played in a quagmire on Friday, October 10th in Pass Christian. All along the Gulf Coast, a steady rain pelted the brightly lit stadiums. It was a running team's dream. Both SSC and Pass Christian like to smash the ball upfield and the Pirates won this battle. But, it wasn't an easy one. It took Pass Christian an overtime period to dispose of the Rocks 16-10.

SSC threw three incomplete passes in their overtime possession and had to settle for a 22-yard field goal after a Pirate penalty. Ledeal Johnson broke through the line to block the kick.

It took the Pirates just two plays to punch the winning score in. Jared Bowser scored from five yards out for the decisive score.

Pass Christian head coach Bo Vonderbruegge stated, "We ran the ball very hard tonight and did what we had to do. Tony Henderson was very impressive carrying the football for us. We have a young team but we told them that if they work hard they will get better each week. We switched up our offenses about three weeks ago to allow some players to play just defense and that has helped both sides of the 432 A K ME SA ball. We simplified some things on offense and that has helped. Tonight, SSC had a difficult time getting started. We backed up and let them make the mistakes. We have East Central on the road next. We have seen them on film already. We know that they like to throw the football a bit. We feel we can run the football and that is what we will continue to do."

The Rocks started on offense first and gained two first downs on the drive; however, an interception halted the drive deep in Pirate territory at the 15 yardline.

The Pirates first possession stalled without the turnover. Pass Christian tried tried running Bowser and Henderson but to no avail. The Rock defense led by JC Brignone, Jordan Ellis, Lee Klein, Travis Morris, and Spencer Ziegler forced the Pirates into three punt situations.

When the Rocks were on offense, they countered with their running game led by Rob Smith and Matt Hoda. The Pirate defense was led by Ledeal Johnson and Jake

The first half was much of the same for both teams as they traded possession with each other on the wet and soggy field. The first half of play ended with a 0-0 tie.

The second half turned out to be the 24 minutes that everyone wanted to see. The Pirates started on offense in the second half. However, minimal gains by Bowser left the Pirates in a punt situation. The punt was blocked by Jordan Ellis who also scored a safety for the Rocks on the play. With 8:32 left in the third quarter, the Rocks led 2-0 with the Pirates kicking to SSC.

The Rocks gained nine yards on the first two plays but the Pirate defense stiffened led by Mladnich and Johnson to force the Rocks to turn the ball over on downs at the Pirate 40 yard-

The Pirates mounted a 13-play drive that culminated with Tony Henderson scoring from 7 yards out with 11:11 left in the game. Jonathan Willis converted on the PAT to make the score 7-2. On the drive the Pirates mixed the running of Henderson, 5 carries for 28 yards, and Bowser, 4 carries for 18 yards, to move the chains.

The Rocks got the ball out to their 37 yardline on the ensuing kick with a run by Anthony Taylor. The Rocks got 8 yards from Floyd Dedeaux and 4 yards from Hoda for a first down. However, a fumble on the next play that was recovered by SSC and a Rock penalty stalled the drive.

The Pirates experienced a similar letdown losing yards on the first play from scrimmage when Klein and Ellis teamed up to stop away.

The Rocks got moving on their next drive with a 14yard gain on a pass from Tim Kulikowski to Michael Cure. However, on the next Ledeal Johnson play stepped in front of a Kulikowski pass and returned it to the Rock 11 yardline.

The Rock defense held up and forced a 26-yard field goal by Willis which made the score 10-2 with 2:47 left in the game.

Zack Elkins returned the kick to the Rock 47 yardline. Kulikowski found his favorite target, Cure, for a 28 yard gain and a first down. On the next play, Kulikowski was intercepted by the Pirates but the ball was stripped loose on the tackle and the Rocks recovered at the Pirate 11 yardline. On the next snap, Kulikowski connected with Stefan Sofianos who lunged for a 11-yard score with 2:01 left on the clock. The Rocks were forced to go for two on attempt. \mathbf{PAT} Kulikowski found Brock Kelly in the endzone to tie the score at 10-10.

Some hard running by Henderson and Bowser for 5 and 4 yards, respectively, were received by the Pirates. However, the middle of the Rock defense led by Brignone stiffened and forced a Pirate punt. SSC got the ball back at their own 42 yardline. On the Rocks' final pos-Bowswer. Pass Christian session, Kulikowski hit ended up having to punt Cure for a 12-yard gain and a first down. On the final play of regulation, a Rock pass was broken up by the Pirate defensive backfield to force overtime.

The Rocks misfired on their three passes in the extra frame and lined up for the field goal. The 22-yard attempt by Michael Kivlan was blocked by Johnson setting up the Pirates winning score. Henderson carried for five yards around the end while Bowser pushed forward for another five yards on the next play for the score and the win 16-10.

SSC head coach Casey Wittmann stated, "Tonight. the Pirates wanted the game more than we did. They were the better team in the game. They played hard and with lots of heart. They were highly motivated. Next week, we play Bay High. They will be a highly motivated team and we hope the we will be, as well. We face a three game season now."

Tony Henderson led the Pirates on the ground with 83 yards on 16 carries and a score. The Rocks were led by Matt Hoda with 9 carries for 42 yards. Michael Cure had three catches for 54 yards for SSC.

. Defensively, Johnson tallied 11 total hits and an interception while Mladnich added 9 tackles in the win. The Rocks were led by Lee Klein and Jordan Ellis with 9 tackles each. Ellis also had a blocked punt. JC Brignone and Travis Morris each added 7 tackles for SSC.

This week the Rocks will host the Bay High Tigers who defeated the D'Iberville Warriors 30-0 in Bay St. Louis on Friday evening. The Pass Christian Pirates hit the road to take on the East Central Hornets in Wade-Hurley. The Hornets lost to the Vancleave Bulldogs 10-6 on Friday night.

Hancock drops third straight game, falls to N.W. Rankin 24-6

BY DWAYNE BREMER

Contributing Writer The Hancock Hawks lost their third straight district decision Friday Night, as they dropped a hard-fought 24-6 battle to the North West Rankin Cougars.

The Hawks (3-4), were their own worst enemy on the night, as they committed seven turnovers that directly resulted in 21 Cougar points.

"We gave too much away tonight. It's no excuse, but we have had a very tough stretch, we just played three of the best teams in the state. I would like to see how some other teams would do if they scheduled the teams in our district," said Hawks head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The Cougars (6-1), were led by senior running back Jeremy Bibbs, who carried 26 times for 157 yards.

On the first drive of the game, the Cougars set the tone, as they drove 15 plays to reach the Hawks' 13 yard line. Ragan Walter kicked a 30-yard fieldgoal, to give the Cougars a 3-0 lead with 3:31 to play in the first quarter.

The Cougars took advantage of a Hawk fumble, as Bibbs scored on a six-yard run on the next Cougar possession. After the pointafter by Walters, the Cougars led 10-0 with 1:23 left in the first.

The Hawks fired right back, thanks to a 56-yard pass from Robert Domke to David Brown. The play moved the ball down to the

The Cougars took the kickoff, and began another Hawks at the six. long drive. The Cougars marched 11 plays to the Hawks 25, but this time the Cougars were turned away thanks to an interception by Daniel Spiers.

The Hawks and Cougars could not manage any more offense and the score remained 10-6 at the half.

The Hawks took the second half kickoff at the 20. The turnover bug would then strike the Hawks hard, as a bad exchange was recovered by Eric Denson at the Hawks nine. Three plays later, Stephen Wright scored from two yards out, and after the extra point the Cougars led 17-6.

The Cougars took advantage of a fumble on the kickoff, and they took over at the Hawks 26. Four plays down. The point-after was later, the Cougars had a first-and-goal at the five.

to work, as Domke hit

Justin Kopf for 11 yards, and two plays later Domke found Brown for a pretty 22yard completion that Brown hauled in with one hand. The Hawks had a first-andgoal at the five, but two plays later, Domke was intercepted by Shawn Dubose at the goal line, and Dubose returned the ball back to the 23.

The Cougars closed the door on the Hawks, as Bibbs ran for two yards, and then took off on a 75-yard touchdown gallop. The extra point gave the Cougars a commanding 24-6 lead, with just over 10:00 minutes to play.

Hawks The would attempt two fourth-quarter drives, but both ended in turnovers.

The Cougars ran out the clock, and earned their sixth victory of the year.

The Hawks were led on offense by Domke, who threw for 209 yards, and ran for 30 more.

On defense, Gerald Adams had a great game with 12 tackles. Barrios, Matt Rayborn, and Hains had nine tackles each.

The Hawks will look to get back in the win column next week, as they travel to Natchez to face the Natchez Bulldogs.

Tigers shutout state champs

BY MAURICE SINGLETON

Contributing Writer
The Bay High Tigers football team got back on the winning track on Friday night with outstanding performances from both their offense and defense. When it was over the Tigers had recorded their first shutout in at least five years in their 30-0 win over defending 4A state champion D'Iberville at McCullough Stadium.

"We played a good football game tonight, probably the best overall game we've played this year," said Tigers' coach Glenn Williams.

"What makes it even more convincing is it was in the slop," Williams added, referring to the slushy field that was fed with a steady light rainfall throughout most of the game.

"The offensive line has been working hard all year. Daniel Lyrock, Trevor Collier, Willie Lock, Jeremiah Banashak and Teddy Morris did excellent jobs tonight opening holes and helping us control the ball on the ground."

From early on the Tigers showed that they were quite a different team than the one that just a week ago couldn't effectively move the ball or stop their opponent from moving the ball. On Friday night, they drove the field between the ends on slants. And with the clock constantly ticking, the game was over at 9:30, just two hours after kickoff (about an hour earlier than three of their games this season).

The Tigers grounded it out. Instead of passing 30 – 40 times, the Tigers featured the run, backing up the visiting Warriors' defensive line for 259 yards rushing on the night.

The Tigers capped their second possession of the game with a 20-yard touchdown pass play from quarterback Zack Ferry to Lorenzo Lewis at the 3:35 mark of the first period. Kyle Moran's 35-yard PAT kick following a personal foul flag gave the Tigers a 7-0 lead. The key play of the drive was a 27-yard run by Antonio Hawkins on third, moving the Tigers into kicked a field goal to give Warriors' territory at the 43 the Tigers a 19-0 lead, but yardline.

Two possessions later, the Tigers got on the scoreboard again as Ferry couldn't find an open receiver and opted to keep it, breaking tacklers near the line of scrimmage and then outracing Warriors 72 yards for the score. Again, an unsportsmanlike backed the PAT kick attempt to the 18 yardline, but Moran's attempt fell short. The Tigers led 13-0 at the 8:43 mark of the second quarter.

Following the ensuing kickoff, Lyrock recovered a D'Iberville fumble on their first play from scrimmage at the D'Iberville 13 yardline. After two illegal procedure calls against the Tigers, Moran booted a 37yard field goal to increase the Tigers' lead to 16-0 with just over seven minutes remaining in the second quarter. D'Iberville took a significant risk to try to get back in the game on their initial possession of the second half by going for it facing fourth and ten yards for a first down. The pass attempt failed, resulting in good field position for the Tigers at the D'Iberville 43 yardline. At that point it was just about all Kyle Moran behind the blocking of the Tigers Five - Lyrock, Collier, Lock, Banashak and Morris. Moran plowed 33 yards on the next seven possessions to the D'Iberville 8 yardline. The only other yardage came from a 5-yard illegal participation call against D'Iberville.

On fourth down, Moran rival St. Stanislaus.

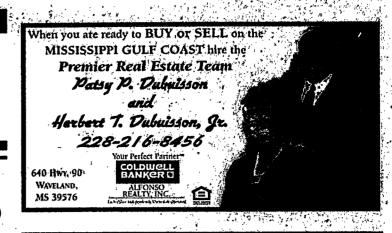

the Tigers a 19-0 lead, but the Tigers elected to take the points off the board following a personal foul call against D'Iberville. Three pays later, the call paid off as Ferry connected with Lewis again, this time a 15yard touchdown. Moran's PAT kick gave the Tigers a 23-0 lead at the 4:21 mark of the third quarter.

The Tigers final score of the night followed a Javon Williams' sack of the D'Iberville punter at the D'Iberville 35 yardline. On first down Hawkins broke free for a 28-yard carry to the D'Iberville 7 yardline. Three plays later, Moran carried for the 4-yard score. His PAT kick closed out the game's scoring.

Jimmy Blount led the Tigers' defense with 9 tack-les/4 sacks, followed by P.K. Keyes with 9 tackles/1 sack, 1 caused fumble & 1 rumble recovery. Trevor Adam had 8 tackles and fumble recovery; Williams and Brad Ladner each totaled 6 tack-les/1 sack; Teddy Morris and Daniel Lyrock each added fumble recoveries.

Moran led the Tigers with 86 yards on 22 carries, followed by Hawkins with 74 yards on 9 carries, Ferry with 70 yards on 3 carries and Shawn Moran had 26 yards on 6 carries. Ferry completed 4 of 14 passes for 50 yards and two touchdowns. Lewis had 3 receptions for 45 yards and two touchdowns.

The win gives the Tigers a 5-2 (2-1, district) record going into next week's district game at cross-town rival St. Stanislaus.

TEN YEARS AGO

October 3, 1993 - Steve Dockens from Moore & Powell, Certified Public Accountants, called the financial situation of Bay St. Louis "very positive," citing a strong reserve balance during Monday's City Council meeting. "You are the only city on the Gulf Coast that maintains that strong of a reserve," Dockins said as a result of the annual financial report for the year ended Sept. 30, 1992 submitted to Moore & Documents

TWENTY YEARS AGO

October 2, 1983 Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson is at an impasse regarding adequate salaries for deputies. Peterson at a Thursday meeting of the Hancock County Board Supervisors requested that new deputies graduating from the State Police Academy be paid at least $5 hourly ($800 monthly) so the department can draw and retain quality recruits. He revealed that four deputies who recently graduated from the academy are pail about $4.20 hourly. The sheriff said several county truck drivers are paid more, but several board members disagreed.

-Four Public Forums are scheduled for this month on a proposed criminal justice facility for Hancock County. A $2.5 million bond issue is to appear on the ballot in the Nov. 8 General Election for the construction of the new jail in Hancock County.

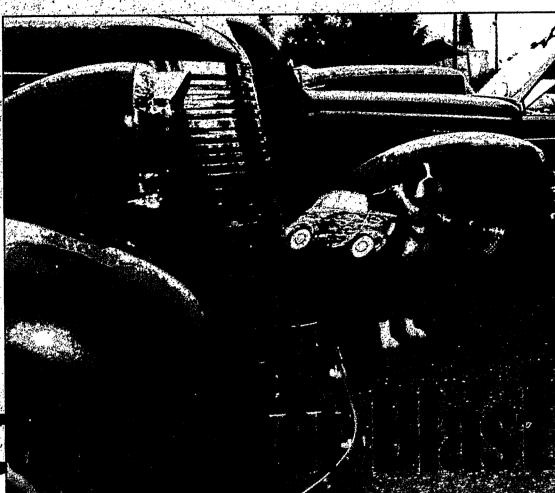

FORTY YEARS AGO

October 3, 1963 - While the village of Logtown, once a major factor in the economy of Hancock County, may be forgotten in the next few decades as it is obliterated by Uncle Sam's man on the moon program, chances are it will long be remembered by stamp collectors around the world. An envelope with a specially designed "last day cover" to mark the closing of Logtown's post office on Monday, Sept. 30, was distributed by the Sea Coast Echo and some 500 copies canceled were Postmistress Lollie B. Wright that day as she closed up shop after 35 years on the job. So far as it is known, Logtown's Postoffice is the first to be closed for space project-- the community being acquired by the National Space and Aeronautics Administration for its Mississippi Test Operations. It may be the first known "last day" cover issued. First day covers long

FIFTY YEARS AGO

October 9, 1953 - Three Bay St. Louis men meet in Heidelberg, Germany. The size of the globe means nothing to three Bay St. Louis servicemen who met in Germany and decided immediately to go on a boar hunt in the Alps.. It all started when Lt. Col. Warren Larroux of Cedar Point walked his living room one night to find S/Sgt. and Mrs. Claude Quintini waiting to discuss town news. Claude is stationed nearby in Kaisedlauten and had heard about Warren's location. But this coincidence wasn't enough. Claude found out that Fred Capdepon was also stationed in Germany. So the three planned a boar hunt, just as if they were home and planning a rabbit hunt on a Saturday.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

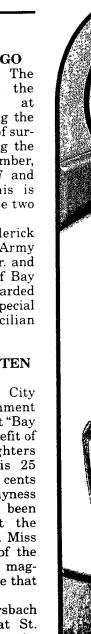

October 8, 1943 - The Logtown group and the Daughters Kings Waveland are breaking the record in the number of surgical dressings. During the month of September, Logtown made 10,777 and Waveland, 5,630. This is splendid work for these two towns.

Frederick -Cpl. Capdepon, U.S. Army Paratrooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Capdepon of Bay St. Louis, has been awarded the Purple Heart for special service in the Sicilian Invasion.

ONE HUNDRED-TEN YEARS AGO

October 7, 1893 - City Echoes. An entertainment will be given tonight at "Bay View" villa for the benefit of the King's Daughters Library. Admission is 25 cents adults and 10 cents children. The social gayness of Union Street has been much brightened at the Koningslow residence. Miss Ernestine, daughter of the house, has received a magnificent new piano, one that has but few equals.

Professor Hemmersbach has been engaged at St. Stanislaus College as assistant music professor. He is fully competent for the position and is a graduate of the Conservatory of music, Colonge, Germany.

than more most people on the planet, define themselves by how they get around. In the locomotive land of the interstate highway and the SUV. how you get there is Reflections important as where you are going."

Doug MacCash, by Father Jerome writing in the Living section of the Oct. 7 issue of The Times-

Picayune in New Orleans, definitely makes a point when he goes into the love affair of Americans and vehicles, especially big ones. But God forbid that his statement is true of more and superstar clotheshorses than a sizable minority of

If indeed more than a considerable minority of Americans define themselves by how they get around, we as a nation are in very bad shape.

If you are to be stamped as good mainly by your SUV or other vehicle, you are, first of all, not legitimated. Second, you are to be pitied as foolish.

"Making a statement." seems to be the principal motivation of many folks who acquire luxurious or fancy wheels to navigate the streets of their city and country. So, making a statement about what or to what effect?

That you are well-heeled, among the elite, better than most people around you?

What ever happened to the old-fashioned custom of getting a vehicle not to show off, but to meet one's needs, one's convenience and one's comfort?

If you feel you have to make a statement with your vehicle, there is something seriously wrong with you to begin with.

Piggybacking on the fancy vehicle happening, check out the lavish cribs people build for themselves, in many cases long after there is any need for spacious quarters for children, etc. Again, they appear to be trying to define themselves by their latest, expansive, extravagant, expensive digs.

It is no coincidence that virtually all celebrities and superstars eventually hit the national news regarding their sprawling mansions, compelled by the elite herd psychology to make a one-upmanship statement through their outlandishly large and exorbitantly priced spreads.

So, does this relegate the millions of lesser lights who create their own fancy digs to a lower trough of celebrity and superstar wannabes? Or does it simply indicate that they subscribe to the apostle complex? In the latter case, their main statements are: "Who is the greatest?" (Matthew 18:1.) And, in step with the apostles who had just received Communion at the Last Supper, "An argument broke out among them about which of them should

Bay St. Louis

Pass Christian

greatest." (Luke 22:24.) As it was poison among the apostles, it is no less poisonous in our midst. Luxurious homes and fancy automobiles are the first lines of statements being made by perhaps most of the people who feel compelled to legitimate who and what they are by such possessions. But it does not stop there. It goes on to other possessions such as varied, outsize wardrobes.

We get a load of celebrity from the roving eye of TV. However, the painful lower tier of wannabes is the real story, the real pain. For instance, blacks, who on the economical scale can afford it least, are those who proportionately waste more of their money on fancy clothes.

I have not read any recent surveys, but a couple of decades ago blacks were spending well over $3 billion a year on clothes. Were they just following the elite herd lemming-like, or were they trying out of their sometimes dire need to make a statement of some kind? I am somebody?

There is hardly anything sadder than a black clotheshorse who can ill afford the necessities of life, yet scratches and scrapes until he can acquire some fancy threads to hang around him. It is that old bugbear of "buying what you want, and begging for what you need."

This troubling behavior often indicates a sort of mild addiction, a pale reflection of obviously addicted people like Emelda Marcos of the Philippines who, among other things, owned an incredible 7,000 pairs of shoes. And that in the face of abject poverty among everyday Filipinos.

So, considering all your possessions, your buying habits and your felt needs which you try to satisfy by acquiring more, what or who, in your view, defines you? Do you attempt to make a statement on who you are by the things you possess and by what people say about you?

Do you even dare to use your true identity to fly in the face of those who speak negatively of you or spurn you? Try challenging them with the little gospel jingle: "If anybody asks you who I am, who I am, who I am; if anybody asks you who I am, tell him I'm a child of God."

You are spinning your wheels now and you will go on spinning your wheels as long as you do not see God as validating you. "Listen, my beloved brothers. Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him? (James 2:5.)

The "Word" for the Week Your spiritual life

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

To what are you totally dedicated? Are you dedicated to your work; to your family; to building a personal empire of material possessions? Everyone has priorities. What are yours? Do you have your priorities straight?

Even religious people manage to put fame and fortune before God. How does God become a top priority in a person's life? Well first of all, you must have proper perspective on Christ!

Jesus Himself asked, "What do you think about the Christ?" (Matthew

The answer is crucial. Do you believe that Jesus Christ was and is God? The Bible presents Him as God. He is "God with us" (Matthew 1:23).

If you fail to recognize Jesus Christ as God, as King of $\bar{K}\text{ings}$ and Lord of Lords, your priorities are wrong. You see, if you don't recognize Jesus as God, you will not worship Him as you should. You will not listen to Him as

You will probably listen to some other so-called prophet. God said to Moses. "I will raise up a prophet from among their countrymen like you, and I will put My words in His mouth, and he shall speak to them all that I command him" (Deuteronomy 18:18).

The New Testament says Jesus is this prophet. So if you are listening to another prophet besides Jesus speaking in the Bible, your priorities are wrong. Finally, many people are trying to work their way to heaven. They think they are as good as God or can become gods. But the Bible says, "There is not a righteous man upon the earth who continually does good and who never sins" (Ecclesiastes 7:20).

So if you do not trust in the sacrifice of Christ as the only payment for your sins and the only way to heaven, your priorities are wrong.

One day I was talking to a young sailor about his spiritual well being. I was explaining to him that to have life everlasting you must... then suddenly he interrupted me very excited, to tell me this horrible dream he had aboard his ship.

He said in his dream there were three thrones at the end of this long alley, he found himself being driven forcefully towards those thrones in spite of an effortless struggle.

He looked at me wide eyed and said that this must have been my judg-strapped down in his bunk with doctors looking at him; they thought he must be drunk and on dope because of his screaming and running through the ship.

As he told me this story, the fear that came out of that man was so overpowering it took me hours to get over it. Even though that dream has long passed, it still effected him greatly.

More than likely he won't experience those thrones because the grace of God showed him beforehand his destine. Will we bow our knee now to Christ, and ask for eternal life with Him? Or shall we wait for our "judgment day"? Revelation 20:11-15

Checking in With Maggie Lawson

By Jay Bobbin

Starring in a new sitcom agrees with Maggie Lawson, relatively speaking.

The young actress who played Nancy Drew in a TV movie last season now plays bride-to-be Liz in "It's All Relative," the Wednesday-night ABC sitcom about an engaged couple whose relationship constantly is tested by their parents.

Hers are a gay couple (John Benjamin Hickey, Christopher Sieber), while her groom's (Reid Scott) mom and dad (Harriet Sansom Harris, Lenny Clarke) are conservative people who don't accept change - or the engagement - easily.

"It's so much fun," Lawson says of working on the show. "I just feel so blessed. I drive to work every morning thinking, 'I can't believe this is my job.' Other people will ask me, Wanna do something fun after work?' I tell them, 'You don't understand. I get to play all day!' I never stop laughing.

Lawson likes what "It's All Relative" says about nontraditional families and Liz's place in one. "She's a reflection of her parents, but she's also a strong girl and a smart girl, and she knows what love is. She tells her dads to accept the other parents and vice versa, because that's what she's been raised to believe in. She's the grounding voice, but there are prejudices on both sides.

"It's All Relative" is the first television series produced by Craig Zadan and Neil Meron, the Oscar-winning mentors of the movie musical "Chicago." "They're so alive on the set," Lawson says. "They have the biggest smiles, and they're so talented. It makes me very proud and excited, and also makes me really believe in what I'm doing, when I see great things happen to such people."

Birth: Aug. 12, 1980, in .ouisville, Ky.

USA movie goes inside hunt for D.C.area snipers

By Jay Bobbin

A year after sniper shootings terrorized the Washington, D.C., area, they're being relived in print and on film.

"Three Weeks in October: The Man-hunt for the Serial Sniper," written by the lead investigator on the case, former Montgomery County, Md., Police Chief Charles Moose, was recently published in hardcover. This week, USA Network debuts the movie "D.C. Sniper: 23 Days of Fear" on Friday, Oct. 17.

Charles S. Dutton ("Roc") portrays Chief Moose, who used the media to address the shooter (or shooters, as it turned out) indiscriminately targeting people near the Beltway. Newsweek reporter Michael Isikoff consulted on the film: Bobby Hosea and Trent Cameron co-star as the accused killers, John Allen Muhammed and John Lee Malvo.

"Like just about everyone else, my only concept of Charles Moose was through the TV screen," Dutton says, "watching him walk up to that podium every day. I thought, 'There's got to be a lot more to this guy,' so it was intriguing to play him. I never got a chance to meet him. I was doing a play on Broad-way, and we closed on April 4. I flew to Vancouver on April 5, then started filming on April 6, so there was no time for any real research."

Geographically, Baltimore native Dutton felt "bonded" to the story. "The Silver Spring (Md.) shootings were only about nutes from where I have a farm. The other shootings were only another 35 or 40 miles from me, and (the suspects) were captured only about 15 miles from my farm. I was in Maryland through most of the actual events, and we kept wondering, "When is this guy, or these guys, going to come north?" Lo and behold, that's where they were cap-

Showtime lures Hayek behind camera for 'Maldonado Miracle'

"But what I really want to do is

So many actors have trotted out that tired phrase during interviews that it has become the punch-line in a Holly-wood joke. But Salma Hayek said no the first time Showtime offered her a directing gig.

Currently starring with Antonio Banderas and Johnny Depp in the boxoffice hit "Once Upon a Time in Mexico," Hayek also makes her belated directorial debut on Sunday, Oct. 12, "The Maldonado Miracle," the same project she originally rejected:

The TV movie is set in tiny San Ramos, a dying Southern California border town where residents have given up on themselves and their impoverished community. As the story Jose Maldonado (newcomer Eddy Martin), an 11-year-old searching for his father, comes to town and inadvertently serves as a catalyst in an extraordinary chain of events including a church statue of Jesus that apparently starts to bleed - that injects a vital new hope into the locals, despite a skeptical priest (Peter Fon-

A Showtime executive first gave Hayek a draft of the "Maldonado script after she had produced and starred in a 2001 movie for the channel, "In the Time of Butterflies."

"The script they gave me was a lot more about the (religious) miracle and the Catholic Church and the priest.' Hayek recalls. "I was not very passionate about that theme, but I was passionate about the town, which was not the focus of the original script.

"I was passionate about portraying another kind of miracle, the little mira cles we can do once we have a little bit of hope. I went to Showtime and they were so supportive because we did a lot of changes together."

Chief among them was refocusing the narrative on San Ramos and its dispirited residents in all their quirky complexity.
"I wanted to personalize this little town, to make it almost another character in the film," Hayek explains. "I had in my head my own little script, and I felt that more than anything this film is about the loss of home. I believe that we all have a comprehension of the word 'home' when we are little, and we associate it with a sense of belonging.

"One day, that disappears. It vanishes, even if your parents are living in the same house and you go back there to visit. There is something missing, something broken, something gone. Maybe your brothers and sisters are not there anymore, or your parents don't seem like the same people who made you feel protected and safe when you were little.

"We carry that sense of loss with us, and subconsciously we try to replace it. In this film, that little town repre sents the broken home for the people who are trying to find their way back to that earlier feeling. ... So when this little boy comes into town, he brings hope back into this desperate little Finding the right young actor to play Jose was vital to the success of the project and Hayek searched far and wide before finding Martin.

"I looked at boys in Mexico, New York and Miami and still was not 100 percent convinced," she says. "Finally, they said, 'No more kids, sorry,' but I was so stubborn that Showtime finally brought back a few of the bovs whose first auditions had not been judged as good enough for me to meet them.

"I spotted Eddy almost immediately and started working with him, and he is just so open and sweet and willing and smart. He has an incredible ear. Producers lining up 'Amazing Race 5'

By Taylor Michaels © Zap2it

Is "The Amazing Race" coming back? It's an excel-■lent show and I will be disappointed if it is not renewed. -Judy, Shelter Island, N.Y.

It's a puzzler why this Emmy winning and critically acclaimed venture from CBS easily the classiest reality show on network television, never draws the blockbuster audiences that some of the sleazier projects do. But. thankfully, a fifth edition of "Race" is in preproduction even as I write this.

Applications from would-be contestants were due Wednesday, Oct. 8, and semifinalist interviews (which prospective players must attend on their own dime) will be conducted later this month or early next month. Finalists will be flown to Los Angeles for their last auditions in

The application notes that contestants "must be willing to travel to numerous locations around the world lasting approximately 30 to 40 days starting in January 2004," so an educated guess would be that you'll see host Phi Keoghan and "Amazing Race 5" hit CBS in late spring or early summer 2004.

'Boston Public's' Milo Ventimiglia is not bad and not a boy

By Kate O'Hare © Zap2it

"My manager makes fun of me," Milo Ventimiglia says. "He's like, 'Since you started in the business, you've aged eight years, but on television, you've only aged two or three.' It's a frustrating thing.

"It's hard when you're trying to present yourself as a man, a businessman, and people are looking at you, patting you on the head like, 'Oh, what a cute little 18-year-old.' 'No, I'm 26. Let's talk busi-

Ventimiglia is currently in the middle of a three-episode stint on Fox's highschool drama "Boston Public" which began on Friday, Sept. 26, and continues on Oct. 17th and 24th. He plays Jake Provesserio, a 23-year-old narcotics officer posing as a student, who winds up catching the eyes of both a student (Lyndsy Fonseca) and teacher Carmen Torres (new series regular Natalia Baron).

"I don't think he causes as much trouble as everyone's been talking about," Ventimiglia says. "I've seen a couple of articles just randomly about my being on the show, saying, 'This bad boy gets the chicks.' I'm like, 'What?'

"There's a story with the teenage girl, Jenn, played by Lyndsy Fonseca, I'm hanging out with her. Then there's the teacher, Carmen, he's attracted to her. He's kind of back and forth. At the same time, he's a kid, so what can you really

With Ventimiglia's teen-heartthrob status well established during his stint as the moody Jess Mariano on The WB Network's "Gilmore Girls," Baron may find herself the envy of many teen girls but she doesn't see it that way.

'Well, I think he's the envy of many young boys," Baron says, taking a break on the set in a sleek red top and black slacks with red embroidery. "That's my take on the situation. But he's very sweet. He's a very nice guy. It certainly made it easier that he's been around for a while, and this is my first acting job."

"Natalia was great to work with," Ventimiglia says, "very professional, very prepared. She was like, 'This is my first job.' I was like, 'What?' She was asking all these questions about the camera, this and that. I felt like the old Jedi Mas-

As for the other girl in Jake's life, Ventimiglia says, "Lyndsy really is 16 years old, and I'm 26. Here I am in a scene where she's two inches away from me. You're in character and all that, but at the same time, you're going, 'Oh, my God!' It's a strange business.

Although he's still in a high-school setting, Ventimiglia's stint on "Boston Pubproduced by 20th Century Fox, offers the actor a fresh perspective. After his "Gilmore Girls" spin-off failed to materialize on The WB. Ventimiglia is now a free agent.

"Just a change of scenery," Ventimiglia says. "I've been at Warner Bros. for several years. This is the first time in six years, seven years that I haven't had

He even sees playing yet another "bad boy" - he prefers the term "troubled teen" - as a challenge. "That is the opportunity for the actor to take something that's so boxed into one area and make it larger than life, give it more of a range. I'm all for playing the bad kid, but not everybody is completely evil. When there are the moments of vulnerability with a character, that's the fun stuff.

"On 'Gilmore' for two years, I was such a punk, saying all these sardonic, wry, very humorous things, but it was at the expense of other characters. It wasn't until the last episode where this kid broke down - and it wasn't even that huge of a breakdown - but it was so good to finally do that.

A native of Orange, Calif., Ventimiglia does have some issues with the portrayal of his native Orange County in Fox's summer teen-drama hit "The O.C.," which films at the same studios in Manhattan Beach, Calif., as "Boston Public.

"I can't watch a show that openly rips on where I come from and overdramatizes it," he says. "I can't get into it. At the same time, there's my personal conflict as well, being friends with Adam (series star Adam Brody), and having met Josh (series creator Josh Schwartz), who is very nice. I've met this kid, (series star) Ben McKenzie, and I want the show to do well - I just don't know how much I can watch it.

"Adam came by the set two weeks ago. I hadn't seen him in a long time. Man you should have seen the girls swoon, all over Lyndsy, after Adam left, was like. 'You didn't tell me he was coming!' She was smiling all day, little dance eps. I'm like, 'Wow, everything tastes a little better today, doesn't it?

In his campaign to leave both "bad boys" and high school behind. Ventimiglia wants Hollywood to know that he's more than willing to put on grown-up clothes. "God, I'd love to have a suit and tie. My friends that wear suits to work every day - jealous. I could play a politician, play a doctor, who knows? Definitely, for my own personal sanity, that needs to come soon."

He has also stepped behind the camera, directing some spots for The WB's "Images" ad campaign, which feature the network's stars, including "Angel" lead David Boreanaz.

"Such a nice guy," Ventimiglia says. "He was on my set, had a bunch of ideas, really nice, had his son with him. It was cool. I went through 24 actors: David Boreanaz, Tom Welling, Reba, Kristin Kreuk, Jamie Kennedy,

"It was cool being on the other side, bumping into actors I knew from different shows. They're like, 'Are you on this set next after me?' And I'm like, 'No, actually, you're on my set.' People were pretty surprised. It was a good experi-

PBS brilliantly tells of Boudica's bodacious bravery

By Jacqueline Cutler

Alex Kingston sheds her "ER" coat and cool image for rough-hewn garments and controlled fury as Boudica, a first-century heroine, in PBS' "Masterpiece Theatre: Warrior Queen" Sunday, Oct. 12 (check local listings).

"I have to say I came out of this feeling extremely strong," Kingston says. " have done this, now I can do anything. It was really nice to do something other than Elizabeth Corday to remind people that I am versatile."

As she leads a ragtag army to war against the marauding Romans, wielding a sword, shooting arrows, and alternating between riding wild horses and a chariot that makes the "Ben Hur" models look like SUVs, Kingston proves she indeed is versatile

"The Celtic chariot has the most incredible suspension system," she says. "You are standing on woven leather on a floating platform. You had an amazingly smooth ride over this bumpy ground. It was fast, it was a bit scary. They had rather wild horses. I used to go back to the hotel at the end of the day just being glad that I was alive.

In the end, they had to get new horses because they were so spooked."

Shot in the Romanian countryside, the movie was supposed to be made during her "ER" hiatus, but wound up shooting later, so Kingston commuted between Romania and Los Angeles. "It was unbearably cold," she says. "There were quite a few cases of hypothermia and there was no opportunity for thermals. Our bare feet were wrapped in rags."

The sole problem with this exquisite production is that at 90 minutes, it is too short to tell the fascinating story of the ancient Celt. Little is known of Boudica other than Tacitus' and Cassius Dio's accounts. Boudica, also known as Boadicea, was queen of the Icenis who ived where England's Norfolk and Suffolk counties are now.

She was happy with her king, Prasutagus (Steven Waddington), and their two daughters. Although he is willing to give the Romans what they want - only the best of everything they have - she is not. When her husband dies, she deals with the Romans, who are annoved with this bodacious woman. As Roman nobility, they treat her like dirt.

Sensitive viewers should know this is a movie about war, so even though PBS maintains its standards and nothing is overly gory, there is plenty of carnage. The U.S. version has been sanitized to excise the incest between Nero and his mother. And the less seen of Nero (Michael Feast) swallowing scenery whole, the better.

The Romans try to teach Boudica a lesson by flogging her and raping her daughters in front of her. After, Boudica becomes more determined to fight, and coalesces warring tribes. She leads them into battle and certain death.

Kingston seems born to this role, flexing toned arms and a steely spirit. "I wanted her to look strong," Kingston says, referring to her more muscular physique. "If I am going to be a size one, I am not going to be believable as a fighting warrior. I actually thought when I was offered the role - not to sound my own trumpet - that I have got a sort of female

That same strength is captured in a statue of Boudica and her daughter across from the Houses of Parliament, which is shown at the end. The movie celebrates Boudica's courage and legacy. "I think it's a fantastic story," Kingston says. "And knowing that is a true story -I find that incredible really - and all the more so that it is a woman that the story

Sports Feature 'Baseball Tonight' lauds defensive 'Web Games' in special

By George Dickie

To win a "Web Gems" award, one doesn't have to be a great player, a ory, you don't even have to be a good fielder. Gold-Glover or even a starter. In the-

You only have to make a great play - once. "Obviously, people are familiar with the Gold Glove, which is giviar with the Gold Glove, which is given to the best defensive player at his position," Karl Ravech explains. He, along with Harold Reynolds, Peter Gammons and Bobby Valentine will recognize the best defensive plays in Major League Baseball in 2003 when "Baseball Tonight" presents its "Web Gems" awards special Friday, Oct. 17, on ESPN2.

"A 'Web Gem' award is going to be given to the person who made THE most outstanding play at his position. So, it doesn't really reward overall consistency.... You could have 28 consistency ... You could have 28 errors in a season, and if you come up with the best catch by a left fielder, there is a very good chance you'll win the 'Web Gem' award. That can happen. We're not into the average. We're more into that one big bang," Ravech says. The awards are presented to players at each of the nine positions on the diamond. The candidates are culled from the hundreds of outstanding defensive plays highlighted nightly during the season on "Baseball Tonight" and "SportsCenter." Ravech, Gammons, Reynolds, Valentine and the "BBTN" production team narrow the field down five plays per position, and then name a winner. Additionally, there is a "Web Gem of the Year" award given for the best play overall.

So, who are the candidates? According to Ravech, it won't be who you think. "One of my favorites was a catch by Mike Kincaid (of the Los Angeles Dodgers) ... It was a diving catch in the dirt heading toward the wall - a legitimate diving catch, and partly because nobody expected Mike Kincaid to make a catch like that, it sort of stands out. That's one that, it sort of stands out. That's one of them. There have been others more recently. There was a great play that was made by Lou Merloni, believe it or not, when he was with the Padres, in which a ball was deflected by, I believe it was either a right fielder into his glove or he was playing right field that day and the second baseman sort of deflected it.

... Ty Wigginton of the Mets, sort of laying on his side on the wall waiting for a ball to come down, which was a memorable catch. He didn't dive, but he sort of reached out and kind of hung around at the wall for a long time, and it finally went in his glove. That was sort of a memorable video."

Bayech notes that in past years, the Minnesota Twins would dominate the "Web Gems" highlights. "(First baseman Doug) Mientkiewicz was always man Doug) Mientkiewicz was always making great plays; (third baseman Corey) Koskie was always making great plays. There are people who tend to show up on the 'Web Gem' reels more often. Mientkiewicz at Irst. for the Twins comes to mind. (Center fielder) Toril Hunter was a consistent performer as a 'Web Gem.' Hunter may have the most 'Web Gems' as far as what we see every night, but he may not win the 'Web Gem of the Year' award because he may not have the best catch. That's the difference. Gold Gloves do that, and Torii, I'm sure, will win another one of those, but that's not what we're about. We're about the greatest, the best play."

To the victor will go the hardware, although Ravech isn't certain what that will be. "As a result of our sort of even informally announcing this, I had at least one guy who owns a trophy manufacturing company ask to be the official 'Web Gem' award trophy designer. I know Bobby Valentine is trying to work on somebody to actually get nine different gems for each position to be put either on a plaque or in a glove.

Ravech and the "BBTN" team are happy to draw attention to a facet of the game they feel is too often forgotten. "It definitely has taken on a life of its own, not only this show, but the whole concept, and it's one of the more popular, I think, aspects of ('Baseball Tonight')," he says. "I think a lot of times, especially in light of what McGwire and Sosa did, and obviously Bonds' 73 home runs, you tend to overlook that aspect of baseball - defense - and it's obviously an important one. We like defense. We're big fans of defense."

"Women's Soccer" Sunday, Oct. 12 (ABC, 12:30 p.m. ET): When the final gets under way today, you can be certain one image from the 1999 games will be fresh in the minds of many spectators. It's that of forward Brandi Chastain dropping to her knees, ripping off her jersey and waving it over her head after scoring the winning goal in Team USA's 5-4 victory in the final. This year, it will remain an image, as Chastain was injured in the tournament opener and won't be playing for the United States - if they make it to today.

"NFL Football" Sunday, Oct. 12 (ESPN, 8:30 p.m. ET): Winners of their first three games, the Seahawks impressed many in Week 3 by rallying from a 13-point deficit to defeat NFC West rivals the St. Louis Rams 24-23. Particularly impressive in the closing minutes was quarterback Matt Hasselbeck, who completed four passes in orchestrating the winning 74-yard drive. Winning hasn't been coming so easily to the Niners, as new coach Dennis Erickson transitions the West Coast offense to a more vertical passing game.

"PGA Golf" Thursday, Oct. 16 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): A difficult golf course, 30-mph wind gusts and a case of nerves were as formidable as any human opponent for Rocco Mediate in last year's Chrysler Classic. But, he managed to pull himself together down the stretch on Sun-day to eke out a three-stroke victory over Mark Calcavecchia. His adversaries this year at Forest Oaks Country Club in Greensboro, N.C., include Davis Love III, Jim Furyk, David Toms, Retief Goosen and Jay Haas.

Sunday

12 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Uncle Buck

A big-hearted but bumbling man (John Candy) agrees to look after his brother's children for a few days when the parents are called away. As if looking after a house, two small tykes, their rebellious older sister and her endangered virginity weren't enough, he's also trying to make up with his girlfriend (Amy Madigan) and fend off a man-hungry neighbor (Laurie Metcalf). Jean Louisa Kelly, Gaby Hoffman and Macaulay Culkin co-star in this 1989 comedy.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Masterpiece Theatre

Alex Kingston makes a major leap from her weekly "ER" role by starring as a woman who makes others hear her roar in "Warrior Queen," a new episode that may make unaware viewers think they've tuned into "Xena: Warrior Princess." The central character, Queen Boudica, doesn't hesitate to head into battle — sometimes by chariot — as she and other Celtic Britons stage an uprising against the Roman Empire.

Tuesday

2 p.m. on HBO

Movie: The Tuskegee Airmen

This 1995 drama, originally produced for HBO, recounts the true story of the U.S. Army Corps' "Fighting 99th," a fighter-pilot squadron composed entirely of black recruits. On their way to the sky, the recruits face grueling training and racist officers. Laurence Fishburne, Allen Payne, Malcolm-Jamal Warner, Courtney Vance and Andre Braugher are among the stars

Wednesday

7 p.m. and DSC

Crop Circles: Mysteries in the Fields

The popularity of the Mel Gibson movie "Signs" prompted renewed attention to the round phenomena discovered in fields around the world. This special visits sites where these circles have been found, as researchers discuss possible explanations for their existence. Students at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology test scientific findings by trying to create their own crop circle.

Friday

7 a.m. on TBS

Movie: Mouse Hunt

Picture "Home Alone" with a furry little critter in the Macaulay Culkin role, and you have the basic premise of this 1997 comedy. Nathan Lane and Lee Evans play bumbling brothers with visions of big bucks from the sale of the valuable Victorian house they've inherited. But first, they have to evict the current tenant, a resourceful rodent that laughs at traps, cats and even the exterminator — played, in an inspired bit of casting, by Christopher

Saturday

7 a.m. on TNT

Movie: Mrs. Winterbourne

After establishing herself as a talk show host, Ricki Lake resumed her acting career by starring in this 1996 tale of intentionally confused identities. She plays a pregnant woman who assumes the life of a lady killed in a train accident and is taken in by the family of the victim's also-deceased husband. Shirley MacLaine, Brendan Fraser and Miguel Sandoval co-star.

All My Children

When Lena assured Bianca that terminating her pregnancy was the right thing to do, a heartbroken Blanca pulled away from Lena without telling her that she's keeping the baby. Ryan refused to answer Derek's questions about what he knows concerning Michael's murder. Aware of how much it would hurt Mia, Simone and Greenlee, Kendall dismissed Lena's idea of how to defeat Ryan. Later, Ryan reached out to a distraught Kendall. With Edmund warning that some of Carlos' enemies have entered the country, Tad urged Juan Pablo to take Carlos and leave Pine Valley. Kendall was shocked when Aidan said he loves her. J.R. ignored an attractive woman at SOS and made his own plans. Coming: An accident endangers two lives.

Katie's fever led to hallucinations, and she kissed Mike, thinking he was Simon, but was distressed to realize the truth. When Mike then blurted out his love for Katie, she took off driving Margo's car, and bumped something on the road. Mike was later found to be a hit-and-run victim. Rosanna bonded with the baby, who she named Cabot, while Craig got dubious records about the child from Annabelle. Coming: Jack agrees to an unlikely baby sitter.

Bold and Beautiful

Following several skirmishes between Sheila, her thugs and Massimo, Nick, Ridge, Brooke and the police, Sheila shoved Brooke into a cauldron heading to the furnace at her foundry hideout. As Ridge rescued Brooke, his rope broke, sending Ridge into the ames, while Sheila fled. With Macy in a coma. Deacon reluctantly allowed Amber to help take care of littie Eric. Bridget accused Amber of taking advantage of the situation, but Amber insisted she just feels sorry for Deacon. Bridget tried to convince a guilt-ridden Oscar not to blame himself for Macy's plight. Coming: Is this the end for Ridge?

Days of Our Lives

Roman informed Sami, Kate and Lucas - who were all hurling accusations at one another - that they are suspects in Abe's murder. Jennifer was appalled when Jack went on TV and told the killer he has evidence, but later felt proud of Jack for wanting to see justice done. Coming: The Salem Stalker strikes again.

General Hospital

On a romantic getaway in France, Jason proposed to Courtney, and she accepted. Zander stunned Emily by announcing that their marriage is over. When Emily later received good news about her health, Nikolas celebrated by kissing her. Luke turned Stefan over to Mac, who released him on bail, but Luke vowed to persist with his vendetta. As Stefan was about to force Lydia to sleep with him in order to conceive a child, Luke rescued her. During Luke and Stefan's struggle, Stefan allowed himself to be impaled on Luke's knife, knowing the consequences to Spencer. Guiding Light

Phillip blamed himself when Olivia boarded a ship to parts unknown, and vowed he would bring her back. Brad agreed to meet with Harley after she confronted him with the news that Lori is pregnant, but in fact Brad may be dangerous to Harley's well-being. Marina refused to accept Lizzie's apology for her past actions. Mel was pleased when Jeffrey offered a witness that helped Mel win her case, unaware that Jeffrey had bugged Harley and Blake's new office. Shayne and Marina made a deal that she'll go back to school if he can move into the museum. Reva came close to a kiss with Christopher after a run-in with Billy. Coming: Shayne and Josh move toward reconciling.

One Life to Live

Jessica broke into R.J.'s apartment and read the letter R.J. took from Keri's pocket, learning that Keri committed suicide. However, Bo and Nora were stunned when Daniel rejected evidence that would clear Antonio of murder. Blair agreed to marry Walker but was uneasy seeing him with John. Coming: Blair faces Walker and

Knight stays on to work during the day

By Candace Havens

With numerous actors leaving daytime, it's good to know at least one of them is safe for a few years.

Michael E. Knight, who plays Tad Martin in "All My Children," signed a new contract with the soap, which keeps Tad in Pine Valley for a long

" 'AMC' has always been an impor-tant part of my life," Knight says. "I love the people I work with, and I'm very proud of the work we do."

The romantic prospects for Knight's character have picked up with his new contract. Head writer Megan MacTavish says " ... He will be entangled in a fun, quirky, and, we hope, surprising quadrangle -where he's romantically juggling three women simultaneously, and hot on the trail of several secrets as well. And that's only the beginning."

For Knight, working with Mac Tavish is a bonus, and one of the reasons he wanted to stay with the show. "Megan not only understands Pine Valley's characters, but also the necessity of telling stories as an ensemble." Knight is referring to the last few years when certain characters have been focused on more than others, and many times it was to the show's detriment.

In other news: Fans of "The Young and the Restless" can participate in a contest on http://soapcity.com. Viewers who watched the episodes during the week of Oct. 6-10 can sign on to the Web site to answer some questions concerning the show. Or they can download the episodes. The winner of the contest receives a pair of Charles Winston earrings, an outfit worn by Sharon Case in the show, a script autographed by the cast and more. The contest ends Oct. 31.

Dear Candace: I'm so glad to see that there are other "Passions" fans who feel the same way I do. I can't stand to watch Sheridan in that cellar every day. I'm begging (head writer) James Reilly to please move the story on. You can let them all die for all I care, except keep the chimp. I really like the chimp. -Eileen via the Internet.

Dear Reader: "Passions" fans get a resolution to the story, but is it what they really wanted?

7 p.m. on 38-WB Smallville

People who have had contact with kryptonite become targets of a killer in the new episode "Extinction." Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) is next in line, and in trying to save him, Clark (Tom Welling) is wounded with a bullet made of the element that can rob him of his powers -and potentially kill him.

7 p.m. on HALL Movie: The King and Queen of Moonlight Bay

This 2003 drama movie casts Tim Matheson ("The West Wing") as a harddrinking handyman long estranged from his visiting teenage daughter (Kristen Bell), who spends a summer getting to know him — or trying to. She alternately succeeds and fails in penetrating his emotional shell, leading her to think about giving up and returning home. Sean Young and Edward Asner also star.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

It's All Relative

Bobby (Reid Scott) strives to observe the household rules of tidiness as he occupies the guest house at the residence of Liz's (Maggie Lawson) two fathers in the new episode "Hell's Kitchen." He quickly creates mayhem, though, when his desire for some coffee causes a pipe in the kitchen to burst. Bobby then appeals to his father (Lenny Clarke) for repair assistance.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The King of Queens

Doug and Carrie's (Kevin James, Leah Remini) intended renewal of their wedding vows hits numerous snags in the new episode "Dreading Vows." They decide to call off the ceremony, generating rumors that their marriage is in trouble. Arthur (Jerry Stiller) mulls keeping the present he was going to give the

Angel

A woman (guest star Jenny Mollen) newly transformed into a werewolf becomes the quarry of sinister restaurateurs — who want to serve her up as one of their specials — in the new episode "Unleashed." Angel (David Boreanaz) and his crew try to protect her.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC The West Wing

The president (Martin Sheen) is unsure what to do about a visiting North Korean pianist who wants to defect in the new episode "Han." C.J. (Allison Janney) is in favor of helping the musician, but other aides fear diplomatic repercussions. All members of Congress, except one, are ready to ratify the new choice for vice president (guest star William Devane). Donna (Janel Moloney) gives relatives a White House tour.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN Jake 2.0

Jake (Christopher Gorham) insists on taking time off from his job to go to the wedding of his best friend in the new episode "Last Man Standing." His pres-ence at the event causes his bosses fear to come true, since an assassin is after him. Diane (Keegan Connor Tracy)

Saturday Best Bets

2:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC College Football

A major battle for supremacy in the Big Ten takes place today in Columbus, Ohio, where the Buckeyes play host to the Hawkeyes. The defending NCAA champs, OSU brought a 14game winning streak into this season and extended it with wins in its first four games. Iowa has also gone 4-0 to start the season, but only one victory came against a top-25 team.

5 p.m. and FAM Movie: Hope Floats

After learning — on national television — that her husband is cheating, a former small-town beauty queen (Sandra Bullock) takes herself and her daughter home to Texas. Back in her hometown, where her past glories are overshadowed by her humiliation, she begins a relationship with an old boyfriend (Harry Connick Jr.) and tries to re-establish ties with her mom (Gena Rowlands). Najimy also stars in this predictable but sweet 1998 romance.

6:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX MLB Baseball

Hank Blalock won't be suiting up in this year's World Series, which begins tonight, but his play a few months ago may have a profound affect on its outcome. Blalock hit the game-winning home run for the American League in July's All-Star Game, thus awarding home-field advantage in the Fall Classic to the AL representative. And in 15 of the last 17 World Series, the team hosting four of the seven games has won

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC Movie: Tov Story 2

Spaceman Buzz Lightvear, cowboy Woody and their cronies are back in this computer-animated 1999 Disney movie sequel, which many critics felt had a stronger story than the first edition. A toy collector (voice of Wayne Knight) makes off with Woody (voice Tom Hanks), prompting Buzz (voice of Tim Allen) and the others to mount a rescue mission.

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: The Untouchables

Sean Connery won the best supporting actor Oscar for his performance in this 1987 drama as Jim Malone, the Irish cop who helps federal agent Eliot Ness in his quest to take down crime lord Al Capone, But Connery's isn't the only star power in this production, which features Kevin Costner as Ness and Robert De Niro as Capone. Brian De Palma directed from a script by Pulitzer Prize winner David Mamet

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde

Arquably the ultimate story of split personality, the Robert Louis Stevenson classic gets another screen workout in this new version starring John Hannah ("The Mummy," "Four Weddings and a Funeral") in the title role - er, roles. Scientist Henry Jekyll uses a series of potions on himself until they alter him completely, converting him into the murderous Hyde. David Warner ("Titanic") co-

Movie: For a Few Dollars More

Clint Eastwood again dons the poncho that made him an international superstar in this 1967 sequel to "A Fistful of Dollars," the Italian-made Western that was his launching pad to worldwide fame. Returning as the silent but lethal Man With No Name, he partners with a rival gunslinger (Lee Van Cleef) to hunt a common enemy, a drug-addict bandit (Gian Maria Volonte).

7 p.m. on HBO Movie: Unfaithful

Director Adrian Lyne ("Fatal Attraction") revisits the theme of infidelity in this involving 2002 U.S. version of the French classic "La Femme Infidele." Oscar nominee Diane Lane plays a woman generally content with her husband (Richard Gere, Lane's earlier "Cotton Club" co-star), but she is put to the test when she gets involved with a charismatic stranger (Olivier Martinez) and tries to keep her affair under wraps.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS The District

Noland (Roger Aaron Brown) worries about his visiting niece's (guest star Destiny Edmond) online relationship in the new episode "The Kindness of Strangers." Her pen pal in cyberspace turns out to be a man who might be a convicted pedophile. When the niece vanishes, Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) races to find her. Jean Smart returns in her recurring role as Mannion's ex-wife.

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"THE MATRIX RELOADED": Just before the final fantasy in the trilogy ("The Matrix Revolutions") hits theaters, the second chapter comes to video. Visual innovations remain the high points of the writing-directing Wachowski brothers' saga of an alternate universe where hero Neo (Keanu Recurse) and his principal commands. Reeves) and his principal comrades, Morpheus and Trinity (Laurence Fish-burne, Carrie-Anne Moss) must save their world. Neo has an additional concern - saving Trinity, whom his dreams suggest is doomed. Hugo Weaving suggest is doomed. Hugo Weaving also returns, with Jada Pinkett Smith and Monica Bellucci among cast additions. DVD extras: seven "making-of" documentaries; links to official "Matrix" Internet site.  (R: AS, P, V)
"BLUE CAR": Writer-director Karen

Moncrieff's acclaimed drama, which made a huge mark at the 2002 Sundance Film Festival, boasts a star-making performance by young actress Agnes Bruckner as a teenager with a stormy home life. While living with a desperately unhappy mother (Margaret Colin), whose husband has deserted the family, the girl gets academic encouragement - and more - from one of her teachers (David Strathairn), who nelps her enter a nationwide poetry competition. Frances Fisher ("Titanic") also stars. DVD extras: audio commentary by Moncrieff; deleted scenes.  (R: AS, P)

"WRONG TURN": A very familiar hor-ror-movie premise is taken out for another spin in this suspense tale, which still manages a few jots never-theless. Just as the title suggests, sev-eral teenagers go off their intended route and end up in the backwoods of West Virginia, where they cross paths with a bizarre family that has a taste for cannibalism. Eliza Dushku, formerly of "Buffy the Vampire Stayer" and soon to be seen in the new Fox series "Tru Calling," heads a cast that also includes Jeremy Sisto ("Six Feet Under") and Kevin Zegers ("Air Bud"). DVD extras: audio commentary by director Rob Schmidt and cast members; deleted scenes; three "making-of" documentaries; poster gallery.  (R: AS, P, V) "HOME ROOM": The tragedy of school shootings hits home for two teenagers in writer-director Paul F. Ryan's thoughtful drama. Erika Christensen ("Traffic") plays a young woman wounded in such an incident, and a lon-er classmate (Busy Philipps, "Dawson's Creek") is enlisted to help her through her trauma. Seemingly dissimilar in every way, the teens find through their conversations that they actually have a conversations that they actually have a lot in common. Victor Garber ("Alias"), Holland Taylor ("The Practice") and Constance Zimmer ("Good Morning, Miami") co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentary.  (R:

"THE SAFETY OF OBJECTS": A notable cast ties together four different stories in this drama about neighbors undergoing respective crises. Glenn Close plays a woman devoted to her son, who is in a coma; Dermot Mulroney portrays a businessman stunned to be bypassed for the promotion he anticipated; Patricia Clarkson ("Far From Heaven") appears as a new divorcee; and Mary Kay Place ("The Big Chill") is cast as a woman deter-

Jolene Blalock sees change in life and on 'Star Trek: Enterprise'

By Kate O'Hare

© Zap2it

As befits the woman who plays the urvaceous Vulcan science officer T'Pol on UPN's "Star Trek: Enterprise." Jolene Blalock currently has her nose in a book.

"I'm reading a book right now about hormonal enhancements," she says. "It's like a bible on how the human body functions in terms of hormones what does what, what affects what, what we really need, and what the FDA tells us is right, what they put their stamp of approval on. Yet, if you look at how the body functions, it's completely wrong."

And that's not the end of her curiosity. "I can't even say I'm a science geek, it just intrigues the hell out of me, everything down to just the human body and how it functions, the intricaies of how amazing a creation we are. And if we are such an amazing creation, the beauty is in everything.

"Here we are, from the beginning we think we're the center of the universe. and we're just discovering the 13th planet now. We're so wrong. What we know is we know nothing.

That's particularly true as "Enterprise" motors through its third season on Wednesdays, venturing into an uncharted region of space called the Delphic Expanse, where laws of physics tend to turn on their heads (and people tend to turn inside out).

The goal is to find the mysterious Xindi, an alien race that staged a preemptive strike on Earth in the seasontwo finale, killing millions.

"Yay, for one thing," Blalock says of the show's new mission. "It's always fun to have more action, more story line, more reason for doing what we're doing. The characters, especially Scott Bakula's character, Capt. Archer, are going to be more driven."

Season three also meant a makeover for Blalock, who spent the first two seasons with her blond hair tucked under a short, dark wig and her hourglass figure poured into a drab, high-necked cat suit. The wig is longer and lighter, and the cat suits now come in brighter colors and have plunging necklines - but aren't any easier to wear.

"The blue one is the least comfortable," she says, "because it's not a stretchy material. It doesn't have a lot of give. Once you're strapped in, you're strapped in."

During filming, Blalock usually has her back zipper undone. "That's just so I can use the restroom without having to ask permission," she says.

Because, in the future, women would certainly choose to wear skintight cat suits. "Yes, of course," Blalock says with a laugh. "The liberated woman, at least. It's just the male viewers. It's the

While earlier seasons hinted at sexual tension between the emotionally controlled T'Pol and the easygoing Archer, producers have shifted that focus to T'Pol and Enterprise's chief engineer, southerner "Trip" Tucker (Connor Trinneer) - as evidenced by the topless (if discreet) mutual-massage scene in the season premiere.

Blalock laughs at the thought. "They write it, I do it. I don't see it, personally. T'Pol's a Vulcan - how could she have a relationship? And he's so emotional. My goodness, he's like a nut case. So how are this nut case and this person who has her stuff together going to find common ground? Maybe that's the basis.

We'll find out, because I'm not sure how that's going to evolve."

This past spring, Blalock's real love life took an equally unexpected turn.
"Yeah, I got married," she says

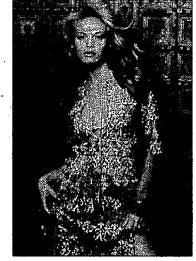

"Pretty wild. My husband and I took both our families to Jamaica and, well, both families and myself were in on it, but little did he know we were planning a surprise wedding."

It's not that Blalock's longtime love, -

Clear Channel Entertainment executive Michael Rapino, didn't try the proposal route himself. "My answer to him was always, 'When Hell freezes over," Blalock says. "But it was time and it was appropriate. About the time I got him to drop the subject, I did this.

"When I got down on my knees and asked him to marry me, he said, 'Yes,' but I wasn't finished with the sentence It was, 'Will you marry me ... at 6:15 tomorrow evening?' So his mouth kind of fell open, he looked around the table, but we were all in on it. But he still said, 'Yes."

As for married life, Blalock says "Fantastic! Absolutely amazing. Everything has its own time, but it's amazing. It's a whole other world. It's just so much better. I honestly didn't think we were going to get married. You never know. What we do know is we know
